

Capacity Crowd Attends Concert in New School

Despite sub-zero weather a capacity crowd filled the new high school auditorium Friday evening for a very entertaining variety program. There was not a dull moment in the 2½-hour presentation. Mr. Ed Wiggins, principal, was master of ceremonies and Mr. Wayne Stauffer and his high school orchestra delighted the audience with many and varied musical selections throughout the concert.

The small fry seemed to enjoy themselves as much as they were enjoyed in "Mother Goose." Tommy Tucker was quite the envy of all with his "real life." Mrs. A. E. Booker and Mrs. Rebecca Anderson are to be congratulated on this splendid performance.

Grades two and three, under the direction of Miss M. Eby, Mrs. H. Dawson and Miss C. Owens, ably presented action songs, a rhythm band and Red Riding Hood. The large and beautiful fox tail of the wolf caused great merriment to young and old alike. Jeannette and Ora Mae Landeen, of grades 5 and 6, were warmly applauded in their tap dances and the Highland Fling. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Swain.

Mrs. Grace Banta then presented several enjoyable vocal selections, with both grades 7 and 8 taking part and Edith Shannon rendered two accordion solos.

The next portion of the program made the parents realize how fortunate we now are to have a well equipped gymnasium under the capable direction of Miss M. Lenz. Junior high boys and girls, and grade 10 girls, gave an excellent tumbling display, with Allan Tuglie, the clown, highlighting the performance with his comical brand of gymnastics. The children shrieked with laughter when Miss Lenz finally chased the clown right off the stage.

Grade nine boys and girls sang "Sneal Away" and "I'm So Secret" under the very able direction of Mrs. Margaret Clayton. A play, "Vengeance Heights," was a contribution of grade 10 dramatic class, with Janice Owens, Lorna Wiggins, Miller McCoy and Wayne Shanks as the well chosen cast. The part taken by Janice Owens was particularly well done and we should like to see more of these young actors and actresses in the near future.

The dramatic groups of the senior high were responsible for the attractive stage settings and the many properties required for the play. Proceeds from the concert will be used to purchase stage curtains. The acoustic tiling recently put on the south wall made a great improvement.

Congratulations to the teaching staff and the boys and girls for a splendid beginning to what, we hope, are many more enjoyable school concerts.

Lions Carnival Draws Small Crowd

The annual Lions Club Carnival was plagued by cold weather last Saturday but those who braved the elements were treated to a fine show of fancy skating by the Glenoce Club of Calgary, a broomball game which everyone enjoyed but the players, kids in fancy costumes and of course the regular program of races for all ages.

In the costume events the comic lady event was won by Marguerite McArthur; Wendy Law came second and Mary Lou Currie received third.

The best clowns, in order, were Wesley Brower, Gary Blain and Mike Siebela.

Best dressed couple, Ode Sorenson and Miss Penny Devine; Wyn Turner and Janet McCoy; Donna Shannon and Gale Dougherty.

Best dressed girl or lady, Dianne Heber; Marilyn Platz, Sheila Preuss.

Come, Bobbie Easton and Terry Nix; David Turner; Gordon Leeson. Best dressed boy, Richard Shannon; Darrel Banta.

Results of the races are not available to us but we do know that the name of the season, the broomball game mentioned earlier, between Johnny Holub's Cheesemakers (they should stick to making cheese) and the High School Dough-heads (they should stick to their books), ended in a 3-3 deadlock. A return match is in the offing we understand. Tentative date has been set for March, 1960.

Licenses On Sale March 1st Here

These are due to go on sale at the local Treasury Branch on March 1st, 1935.

Applications [printed] will be mailed to all holders of 1934 car and truck licenses and it is important that these are presented when applying for your new license. The same requirement regarding vehicle inspection [Safety Stickers] applies — to cars only — as last year, that is the car must have been inspected within 12 months and the receipt must be produced.

In connection with drivers licenses, last year's drivers license must be attached to the application for the new license. This is a new requirement and is necessary in connection with the driver testing programme in effect in various parts of the Province.

Please note that under the regulations of the Highway Traffic Board all licenses must be issued in strict numerical order and no issuer is permitted to reserve any numbered license or to sell such licenses out of their proper order. Issuing officers will be busy and it is hoped that the public will co-operate by not asking for special numbers as it delays the other applicants when time has to be taken to explain why such requests can not be granted.

You are urged to buy your license early in the month to avoid the last-minute rush with the delay it involves.

Notes From D.A.

By HOWARD J. FULCHER

The Alberta Advisory Fertilizer committee, after examining the data from all the Alberta trials using liquid fertilizers on cereals have concluded that there was no evidence of beneficial effect from the use of such materials in the tests concerned.

Tests have been carried out in different parts of this country and also in the United States and on the crops that we grow it has not been shown that this type of fertilizer will give any satisfactory results. It is advisable that farmers who are being confronted with sales literature concerning this topic evaluate the merits of the product before spending any large amounts of money.

Today on the market we also find the dry granular commercial fertilizer; this product has proven to give beneficial effects in the growing of cereal, hay and pasture crops. There are different fertilizers on the market such as 11, 48, 0; 16, 20, 0; and other combinations of the elements that are required for plant growth.

The choice of which of these fertilizers you should use depends on the chemical analysis of the soil. Generally on the black soils 11, 48, 0 is used while on the grey soils 16, 20, 0 is used, the latter containing a higher percentage and some sulphur; these two elements are often lacking in grey soils.

Barnyard manure is a fertilizer that should never be overlooked. It, as well as adding plant foods to the soil, adds much organic matter.

Green manure crops such as sweet clover do the same, they increase the fertility of and add fibre, thus raising the productivity of the land and prevent erosion. The returns from any commercial fertilizer will be much greater when the land has sufficient organic matter; this can best be supplied by the growing of legumes and grasses in a balanced cropping rotation.

The lady of the house told the new maid to dice the beets for dinner. After three hours of work the maid came in and said, "Madame, cuttin' them beets up is pretty easy, but puttin' all those black dots on 'em is quite a job."

Christian Science

Man's God-given dominion over fear, disease, and discord will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. The Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" will include the following from Psalms (8:4,6): "What is man, that thou art mindful of him and soon the son of man, that thou visited him? Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet." From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be among those read (22: 11-15): "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses. Mortals will some day assert their freedom in the name of Almighty God." The Golden Text is from Ecclesiastes (7: 29): "Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright."

Minister Optimistic

Notwithstanding the seemingly slow rate of wheat export from Canada, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, is of the opinion that export clearances during the crop year will be very much larger than the 255 million bushels total exported last crop year.

In a statement made in the house of commons the minister said that Canada has sold Great Britain more wheat during the first six months of the present crop year than that country took during the whole of the previous crop year and the British are still buying wheat.

Do You Want A Home and School Association In Didsbury

The Home and School Association is not an organization of parents which take over from the principal the running of the school or which interferes in the administration of the school.

It is not a social organization for the conduct of whist drives, dances and concerts, nor is its primary purpose that of raising funds to buy playground equipment.

A Home and School Association should exist in order that teachers and parents may study together problems concerning the education of children. It should afford the principal and teachers a chance to give leadership to the parents in thinking through these problems and to enlist the latter's intelligent co-operation in the most complete development of their boys and girls.

It is, therefore, a group for "study" and discussion in which the teacher as a professional educator must be prepared to give a good deal of leadership and guidance. Parents must be willing to give of their time, energy and thought in organizing the association and in seeing that it promotes the growth and development of children. In such an organization parents and teachers can come to know and understand one another.

If the teachers, parents and citizens of this town and surrounding school districts are interested in an organization such as this, they are urged and cordially invited to attend a public meeting in the school auditorium on March 14th at 7:45 p.m. Mrs. Ken Torsy, provincial organizer of Home and School Associations, will present the "Aims and Objectives" of the Home and School. Mrs. Torsy is an interesting and fluent speaker and will be glad to answer any questions that might arise at that time.

Following a short recess for informal discussion, there will be an opportunity to organize a Home and School Association for Didsbury, providing it is the wish of those assembled. Please keep this date, March 14th, open and plan to learn for yourself what a Home and School could mean to you and to the boys and girls of our school.

Through The Study Window

By REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG

The United Church is devoting special attention missionary work in India. This is in continuance of a policy whereby each territory served is given special study for a year.

India is a "secular" state and guarantees to adherents of all faiths the right freely to "profess, practice and propagate" their religion. Communist and extreme Hindu nationalists have been challenging the right of foreign missionaries to participate in evangelistic activity.

The native Christian churches have gone on record as wishing for further help from the West, and for a long time to come. But the National Churches Council also had this to say: "Indian leadership must receive top-priority, and that the missionary must occupy from now on a subordinate position. Also, as far as possible, the missionary must come here at the invitation of the (Indian) Church and not as a member of the Mission he represents."

The church council in that land now administers funds and stations all personnel, including missionaries. Qualified Indians are now the administrative heads of such institutions as Indore Christian College, Union Theological Seminary and Rassaipura Christian High School. A move is on foot to consider renaming these institutions to replace names of western origin with others of Indian meaning and significance.

The position of India, nationally and religiously, is that of a secular state, and as such it is dedicated to the purpose of permitting rather than promoting a definite religion. There are those who are fearful that a secular state will easily become a prey to a secular form of religion, known as communism, or that other form of secular religion known as nationalism.

The missionaries are convinced that India needs Christ. I am concerned because in the nations of Christendom, including Canada, that we do not have that same sense of need. Are we altogether free from the belief that we don't really need what we already have, and that the fruits of the Christian spirit are so firmly established here that we have no much real need for concern. Is the ultimate result of Christianity that in the place of inter-denominational rivalry we shall attain to a secular state where each person is free to "profess, practice and propagate" his own peculiar beliefs. If we think that all religions are equally good or bad, and it's just a matter of opinion or upbringing whether or not we are Christian, we are not on the highway of faith but of indifference, and having cleansed ourselves of "religious intolerance" we tolerate all manner of spiritual diseases that will surely enslave us.

I think we have much to learn from what is going on in the church in India, of the value of a Christian group in a secular state.

Husband: "Where is all the grocery money going that I gave you?"
 Wife: "Stand sideways and look in the mirror."

Two spinsters were talking. "Last week I advertised in the newspaper for a husband," one remarked.
 "You can't mean it!" exclaimed the other. "Get any replies?"
 "Hundreds of them. And they were all the same. They said, 'You can have mine!'"

Smith felt that he was getting too fat, and went to see his doctor about it. "The easiest way to take off a few pounds," the doctor told him, "is to shake your head slowly and deliberately."

"And how often should I do this?" asked Smith a bit puzzled.
 "Every time your friends say, 'Have a drink!'"

"Three years ago when I had rheumatism, Doc, you told me to avoid all moisture and dampness."

"Yes!"
 "Do you think, Doc, it would harm me if I took a bath now?"

"What is the world coming to?" asks an editorial headline. A better question would be, "When is it coming to?"

Attention Parents!

This vaccine is still being used on an experimental basis, as the results of last year's trial may not be known until after the new vaccinations will have started in early April. However, this year, only the vaccine will be used. NO ineffective substitutes.

If you have a child who will be starting school this year, and whom you want to receive the vaccinations, will you please notify the Mountain View Health Unit, Didsbury and obtain the necessary consent forms.

It must be pointed out that there is not likely to be enough vaccine to inoculate all children for whom a request is completed, the quantity that will be available is not definitely known, and depends largely on the demands from other groups of children who have priority.

In The Legislature

By DONALD F. SMITH

EDMONTON — If any one topic is to be chosen as occupying the most time of the Alberta legislative members last week, it must be the province's jail situation.

At the beginning of the week, before any of the opposition members had brought up the topic, Attorney-General Lucien Maynard made a full report on the January prisoner disturbance in the Fort Saskatchewan jail and outlined some of the plans for the new jail just northwest of Calgary.

Before the week was out, the Progressive Conservatives had introduced a motion asking for a judicial inquiry into the government's land transactions in connection with the Calgary jail.

But the members got closer to the subject than talking about it in the legislative chamber. They made a trip to Fort Saskatchewan, 20 miles northeast of Edmonton, and spent about three hours looking at the provincial jail from the death and solitary confinement cells to the kitchens and storage facilities.

In connection with the "junior riot," the attorney-general said it was the brain-child of about 15 prisoners, all of whom had been charged with wilful damage, and one with arson, who pleaded guilty to starting a fire in the jail store room, which caused most of the $5,000 worth of damage, and was sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

Toward the end of the week most of the others appeared in court in Fort Saskatchewan and the magistrate gave them an opportunity to make their complaints, most of which concerned food and general conditions. After hearing the prisoners and pointing out that the best thing would be to stay out of jail, the magistrate added: "I accept the fact you undoubtedly had provocations, especially concerning the food."

The legislative members had eaten at the jail — but they had roast beef and gravy in the women's quarters and noted when passing through the men's kitchen that the main course meat was hamburger.

Mr. Maynard has told the legislature he is awaiting a report on food conditions to be made by the chef employed at the Belmont rehabilitation centre for alcoholics.

In connection with the Calgary jail, which Mr. Maynard reported would be a modern institution with more facilities for proper recreation and a special section for trouble-makers, the Conservatives are querying the land juggling which has taken place.

Last summer, the government announced it had purchased land in the Cheshmere Lake district, just east of Calgary, for the jail. Shortly after the residents of the district protested against the proposed location and charged the $144 per acre price paid by the government was too much. They also said a middle party had paid considerably less for the same property only a short time before.

Late this fall, the government announced it had changed its mind and was buying some land northwest of Calgary for the jail. The man who owned this land is taking the Cheshmere property off the government's hands.

Now, the Conservatives want to know more about the Cheshmere transaction and are suggesting the government, which has stated there was nothing wrong with the deal, should welcome an impartial judicial inquiry.

W. J. C. Kirby, Conservative member for Red Deer, said answers should be given to such questions as how the middle party knew the land was "ideal" for a jail site; how and when the land was offered to the government for sale and why the price paid was so much more than the prices paid for other land in the same district.

The legislature did consider other matters and a Liberal request for a commission to set hospital rates and recommend government grants was defeated after Health Minister Dr. W. W. Cross said the province pays 65 to 70 per cent of all hospital costs.

Calgary Social Creditler Mrs. Rose Wilkinson summed it all up by suggesting the continuing growth of hospitals and jails was a sign of decline of civilization rather than progress.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

President Taylor was guest speaker at the graduation banquet in Beran Bible College last Friday evening. Mrs. Taylor accompanied him. The A Capella choir made its first public appearance Sunday when they presented their concert in the Mountain View United Missionary church. Mr. Franklin L. Lusk, director, regretted the absence of several choir members who were ill. We hope that this epidemic of colds will soon subside and that all of the members will be fit for the next concert.

Rev. and Mrs. Eldon Boettger, missionaries on furlough from Nigeria, West Africa, presented the challenge of missions on Sunday evening in the Didsbury United Missionary church, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. Mr. Boettger has taken a refresher course in the college during the winter months, and has acted as dean of men on the faculty. Mrs. Boettger has efficiently cared for the sick on the campus during the winter.

Mr. Edward Widmark, piano instructor, and associate pastor of the Didsbury church, has been on the sick list for several days. Mr. Widmark conducts both a Junior and senior choir in the church, and also teaches organ each Friday in Canadian Nazarene College, Red Deer.

A group of students held a very successful service for the college in Champion on Friday evening. They returned to the college on Saturday. Other groups held services on Sunday morning in several places.

Miss Mary Walsh, dean of women, spent last week-end with members of her family at Madden.

Miss Eby entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lusk and Christine on Friday evening for supper.

College days are coming to a rapid close. This is a busy campus, with examinations looming, weekend tours for the choir, preparations for the John Suter Scripture reading recital, music recitals, sermon contests, and junior-senior activities, as well as commencement preparations — no wonder some look more serious than usual. But then, others have made it; why not these, our very fine students.

Takes Pot Shot at S.C. Speaker

When John Blackmore, Social Credit Member for Lethbridge, gets up to speak in the House of Commons it is sometimes difficult to tell whether he is coming or going, and last week, speaking on the International River Board, he was running in circles. It would take a good hound dog to follow him.

He said: "The Bill is like a wolf in sheep's clothing. The sheep's clothing does not look too bad, but the wolf underneath does look bad. Now this is just as serious as that. Sir, if this House puts its seal of approval on the wolf that is down under the sheep's clothing, it is a serious matter. I do not hesitate to repeat that there is in this Bill not only the sheep's clothing principle of the Bill, but also the wolf principle. We can easily give approval to the wolf principle of the Bill thinking we are merely giving approval to the sheep's clothing principle that is covering up the Wolf. Now, that is a terribly serious matter, and I propose to go on from there." — and he did.

The really serious matter, which he doesn't see, is that he gets paid for wasting the time of Parliament with this sort of drivel. — J. W. STAMBAUGH

Red Cross Helps To Fight Polio

Records often give interesting features and a glance through the annual reports of Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, tell the story of poliomyelitis in the province, as treated at the Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital, and latterly, of the vital part played by the Blood Transfusion Service.

In the annual report of 1953, a year after the first Junior Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital was first opened, it mentions that "infantile paralysis" was treated there. All through the years as divided by the annual reports, infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis as it was called latterly is mentioned as having been treated. In the '30's, eight to 10 cases were considered epidemic proportions.

Immediately after the new Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital was opened, the big 1952 epidemic struck with 102 polio cases admitted that year. The following year, 1953, saw an even heavier epidemic and at one time the hospital was bulging with 174 patients, with 213 polios admitted during the year.

The Red Cross hospital, which takes the children after they have passed through the infectious stage, has developed the treatment of polio through the years, using a modified Kenny treatment plus hydrotherapy and physiotherapy. Braces, specially wedged shoes and other mechanical devices are made in the hospital orthopedic brace shop as required by the various cases. And, of course, the patients attend school while in the Red Cross hospital so that they may return to their proper classes when discharged.

While fewer cases by far were admitted during 1954, which was a non-epidemic year, the hospital continues to play a vital role for these polio children and stands ready at any moment to move into high gear should another epidemic strike.

In October and November, 1953, the Blood Transfusion Service of the Red Cross began the fight against polio by collecting blood for gamma globulin and, during the next year, collected 150,000 bottles for this purpose alone. Gamma Globulin still remains the only known and proved weapon against polio although of course, the Salk vaccine may be proved to be the potent preventative that everyone hopes.

It is interesting to note, too, that Red Cross is playing another role in the treatment of polio with the blood fraction called serum albumin. During the 1952-53 epidemic, Dr. D. I. Bell of Edmonton, medical director of the B.T.S. in Alberta, obtained 48 ampules of serum albumin from the American Red Cross through Dr. W. S. Stanbury, national commissioner.

This serum albumin was used on iron lung cases suffering oedema of the brain and lung area. According to Dr. Buchanan, the effect of the serum was most dramatic as it draws off the excess fluids from the brain and junks into the circulatory fluids.

This serum albumin is now being produced at the Connaught Laboratories in Toronto from blood collected by Red Cross and will be injected through the Canadian Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service as is whole blood and plasma.
